

BOUGAINVILLEA 'LA JOLLA'

In milder climates this slightly spreading shrub is mostly evergreen. Mature plants may reach a size of 8 feet in height and width. The medium-green heart-shaped leaves are produced on thorny vine-like branches. Bougainvilleas thrive in full and reflected sun and have a low water requirement, making them perfect for hot, low desert environments. 'La Jolla' has intense red-pink flowers, which are really brightly colored bracts that appear repeatedly from summer to fall. Bougainvilleas are native to South America. Hardy to 20° F.
