

CAESALPINIA GILLIESII YELLOW BIRD OF PARADISE

This upright, fast growing deciduous shrub originated from Argentina and Uruguay, and has naturalized in sub-tropical areas of America. Clusters of bright yellow flowers with long red stamens are produced in the summer. Its natural growth habit is irregular and open, but pruning will encourage dense growth. Older plants may attain a height of 10 feet and nearly as wide. This long-lived and durable plant is tolerant of cold, heat and drought, and performs best in full sun exposures. All parts of this plant are toxic. It is root hardy to -10° F.

AT A GLANCE SUMMARY

SIZE (H X W)	10 feet x 8 feet
FLOWER COLOR	Yellow
FLOWER SEASON	Summer to Fall
EXPOSURE	Full & Reflected Sun
WATER	Low
GROWTH RATE	Fast
HARDINESS	-10° F, USDA Zone 6
PRUNING	To Rejuvenate & Remove Dead Branches

SHRUB